One Workplace loves creating better spaces.

At One Workplace, we not only focus on the physical workspace, but we explore how it relates to productivity, creativity and collaboration. Through the integration of architecture, office furniture and technology solutions, we create an environment that is tailored to the way you work. We understand the kind of furniture you will need to integrate with the technology appliances of tomorrow, and how those needs may change in the future. STEELCASE

As the leading provider of office furniture worldwide, Steelcase makes it their business to study how people work and to deliver solutions for flexible, adaptive and accommodating work environments.

Our alliance with Steelcase gives us access to the vast resources of research and development that Steelcase uses to determine how a specific product will meet a specific need. We use that knowledge to help you find the perfect fit for your unique space requirements.

When you bring people together with a shared purpose in a place that supports their needs, you can actually fuel engagement and improve organizational performance. With an increasingly complex and competitive global environment, place matters, more than ever.

Steelcase and One Workplace can help you create places that amplify the performance of your people, teams and enterprise. This is who we are. It's also what we do.

In addition, One Workplace partners with over 300 other manufacturers to provide the right product solution to meet your needs.

UCSF

Relationships make ideas better. The right partner fuels constant exploration and agile, future-focused solutions. After 20 years of working together, UCSF awarded One Workplace a new 5-year contract at the end of 2017. This will allow us to collaborate early in the process to identify the best furniture solutions for each project. The scope includes a series of large capital projects as well as day to day work across all UCSF sites.

This 5-year commitment allows One Workplace to invest in a full-time support team focused on meeting all UCSF needs comprehensively. One Workplace has dedicated experts in both Education and Healthcare to serve the unique needs of all aspects of UCSF's projects and spaces.

Quarterly review sessions will take place between UCSF Procurement and One Workplace to support, measure and manage this partnership. These sessions are focused on performance and customer service reported through quarterly user surveys. Weekly status reports outlining punch list items and outstanding issues are also sent to UCSF Procurement to track timely resolution.

In addition, One Workplace offers showroom spaces in San Francisco, Oakland and Santa Clara as a resource to UCSF staff educational events and project arrangements.
